

I'm concerned about Sinclair Broadcasting Group's plan to air a "news" documentary on their stations on Friday, Oct. 22, called "NewsCentral Presents: A POW Story - Politics, Pressure and The Media." It has been widely reported how this program is clearly an anti-John Kerry piece designed to influence the upcoming presidential election.

I find it alarming when large corporations use their clout to sway voters without giving equal time to both sides. They use the public airwaves free of charge and should be obligated to serve ALL of us, not just a select audience.

Are media interests simply doled out to the highest bidder? It's scary to think that Big Money is controlling the airwaves, with easily renewable licensing. Does the public have ANY say in this kind of media consolidation? I find it very alarming.

Sincerely,
Shanda McGrew